Foreword

As I write this, the steel industry around the world is grappling with the effects of COVID-19. The decline in global steel demand in the first half of 2020 is predictable but perhaps more painful as it came after slower than expected growth in 2019 due to the continuing manufacturing recession in the developed countries. However, it is possible that the impact on steel demand in the medium-term may turn out to be less severe than that seen during the global financial crisis in 2008/9. The steel industry remains at the core of a sustainable modern society and our products will form the basis for the economic recovery.

Meanwhile, the steel industry has reacted quickly and firmly, the health and safety of both our people and our customers being our top priority. The industry has put in hand all the required measures to protect people in plants and offices. Our plants have changed production to prioritise much needed equipment in the community from oxygen tanks to face masks to ventilators and the industry has made large donations to local hospitals and community support organisations. In these troubled times, we all pull together and support one another.

Dr Edwin Basson
Director General

Key points from this report

A healthy economy
needs a healthy steel industry.

Steel makes the future possible.

A healthy economy needs a healthy steel industry

Steel is essential to our society. As a permanent material which can be recycled over and over again without losing its properties, steel is also fundamental to a successful circular economy. From transport systems, infrastructure and housing, to manufacturing, agriculture or energy, the industry is continuing to expand its offer of advanced high-strength steels which reduce the weight of applications and encourage circular economy practices.

For society, the benefits include durable products, local jobs, reduced emissions and the conservation of raw materials for future generations.

What makes up our steel use

Steel makes the future possible

Steel will continue to be the backbone and enabler of society's evolution and progress. It will make the world a better place to live. Tomorrow's smart cities will be built on steel. As an infinitely recyclable and reusable asset, using steel helps to reduce the burden on the Earth's resources.

Exports in World Steel in Figures include intra-EU trade, trade between countries of the CIS, and trade between NAFTA countries. The figures are based on a broad definition of the steel industry and its products, including ingots, semi-finished products, hot-rolled and cold-finished products, tubes, wire, and unworked castings and forgings. The above table comprises the exports of 62 countries, which represents approximately 96.5 per cent of total world trade in 2019.

About us

The World Steel Association (worldsteel) is one of the largest and most dynamic industry associations in the world, with members in every major steel-producing country.

worldsteel represents steel producers, national and regional steel industry associations, and steel research institutes. Members represent around 85% of global steel production.

worldsteel's mission is to promote the steel industry and steel as a material, find global solutions to the environmental challenge, identify and analyse important megatrends, and encourage alignment between regional and national steel associations.

Steel initiatives

STEP UP

A multistep methodology aiming to improve the operational efficiency of steel plants globally.

CLIMATE ACTION

Programme recognising steel producers that submit CO₂ emissions data to worldsteel.

ONLINE BENCHMARKING SYSTEMS

Data collection systems covering reliability, process yield, and energy intensity.

STEEL SAFETY DAY

Initiative aiming at reinforcing awareness of the five most common causes of safety incidents.

LIFE CYCLE ASSESSMENT

Life cycle inventory data for 17 steel products updated on an annual basis.

STEELIE AWARDS

Awards that recognise significant contribution to the steel industry in a series of categories.

STEEL SUSTAINABILITY CHAMPIONS

Programme aiming to set higher sustainability standards for the steel industry.

STEEL DATA VIEWER

Online interactive world map featuring steel production, trade and apparent steel use since 2000.

STEELTALKS

A monthly lecture series on topics of interest to the global steel community.

Notation used in this publication:

(e)	indicates a figure that has been estimated.
0.0	indicates that the quantity concerned is less than 0.05.
-	indicates zero or no data.
